

ENGLISH

INTENT- KS3

We want young people to engage and be inspired by English Language and embrace our wide range and rich culture of Literature. We want them to enjoy picking up a book and reading for pleasure – to enjoy and feel inspired to write a variety of texts for different purposes and audiences – to be able to listen with empathy and speak confidently with different people in different contexts and on different subjects, both formally and informally.

Throughout Key Stage 3 students will develop skills and knowledge in reading and writing a broad selection of fiction and non-fiction texts inspired by a variety of engaging and ambitious texts from a variety of authors from different cultures and times. They will understand the craft of writing for a specific audience and purpose and the ways writing can engage and entertain through specific use of techniques. Students will be introduced to a wide range of texts, extracts and activities adapted and developed for all, including those with special educational needs.

We have a large focus on developing oracy skills recognising the importance of effective communication skills as an essential transferable skill. From Year 7 to Year 9, students study a modern text; a selection of non-fiction texts for different purposes and audiences; poetry; a playscript; 19th Century text and the works of William Shakespeare.

The sequence of learning sees the focus in Year 7 on engagement and inspiration. Students develop their own interests in fiction and non-fiction through a broad and balanced series of activities, extracts and texts. For example, students will explore the humour of William Shakespeare before going on to study a full text in Year 8.

Skills and knowledge will develop up the Key Stage with students moving on to study a wider section of more challenging and full texts with the end of unit assessments reflecting the progress made. The focus progresses in Year 8 is to explore and interpret and further still in Year 9 to connect and compare.

Where possible, we have, 'Real' assessments and outcomes – entering reading, writing and spoken language competitions for example or writing real letters to local papers.

INTENT- KS4

At KS4, students further develop their Language and Literature thinking and skills they developed in KS3.

We cover the AQA GCSE syllabus for Language and English Literature. At the end of the course, students will achieve two GCSE's.

Through the Literature syllabus, students study, 'Macbeth', 'A Christmas Carol', 'An Inspector Calls' and a range of poetry from the Literature Anthology, 'Power and Conflict'

With a confidence developed throughout KS3, students will be able to explore the contexts of plays, novels and poems they study at GCSE. They will be able to comment on and analyse language styles, the reasons why texts are written and the intentions of the writer. They will also be able to comment on and compare two previously unseen poems.

In English Language, students will be able to analyse the content, purpose and audience of a variety of fiction and non-fiction extracts. They will comment on language techniques and their effects. They will also explore how texts are structured for effect.

Through understanding of how texts are created through experience and inspiration, students will create their own fiction and non-fiction texts for different purposes and audiences
